THOSE GUARDSMEN AFTER TO OFFICIALS

Charges May Be Preferred Against Harpers Ferry Police for Making Arrests Indiscriminately.

AT COURT-MARTIAL
CITIZENS ABSOLVE MAN
Private in Second Infantry Saved from Bleeding to Death from Bayonet Wound.

By STAFF CORRESPONDENT.
Camp Ordway, Bolivar Heights, W. Va., Aug. 20.—Charges against the town officials of Harpers Ferry may be preferred by officers of the Second Infantry, D. C. N. G. for the treatment of Private Harry Stevens, of Company I, Second Regiment, who was arrested, hauled to the local "jail" by two of Harpers Ferry policemen, locked up, and handcuffed so that for two days he was not able to attend to his military duties. After Stevens' release it was discovered that he was not the man the local sleuths were after and that an entirely innocent person had been subjected to an extremely disagreeable experience of staying in Harpers Ferry's cooler.

Some of the citizens of the town had engaged in the regular evening brawl, which has been a feature of civilian life in Harpers Ferry since the troops arrived, although the militiamen have kept strictly out of such trouble in the streets. While the fight was in progress a hundred or more soldiers crowded around to see and the police were wearing silk ribbons as their badges of office, dived into the crowd and arrested the first soldier they could grab. It happened to be Stevens, who is a slender boy, weighing less than 120 pounds. Heavy steel handcuffs were placed upon him and pressed tightly to his wrists, and between the two guardians of the peace the boy was marched to jail.

At a court-martial held in camp today citizens of Harpers Ferry testified that the man had engaged in no disorder. The officious conduct of town officials in this and other instances has prompted officers of several organizations to combine in a plan to get some sort of redress for the Stevens case.

Private Is Injured.
Lon C. McNulty, Company K, Second Infantry, is thanking the field hospital today for the prompt service it rendered him when he punctured a vein with a bayonet in the maneuvers of this morning. McNulty started to lean back on the ground and the point of a bayonet behind him stuck into his arm and he profusely and was led to the field hospital by two of his comrades. Maj. Clarence Weaver bound up the wound, operated on the punctured vein, and saved Private McNulty from bleeding to death.

General inspection of the camp by medical officers attached to the regular contingent of the Second Infantry, and officers in the Second Infantry, Capt. Smart found every conical tent let down and every cot standing out to air in the sun. The kitchens and incinerators of the Second Infantry were highly praised.

Four revenue officers and the Mayor of Bolivar Heights, J. Keller, have been sleuthing throughout the camp in an effort to spot irregular and illegal sales of liquor. Imprisoned in Bolivar Heights is that there is plenty of liquor sold in the camp, but the truth is that any liquor sold in this neighborhood is dispensed in Harpers Ferry, or Virginia being dry State, the citizens of Harpers Ferry who want to buy liquor leave an order with money in an envelope in a certain place. The dealer goes to his store, selects what is ordered, drives across the bridge to Maryland, puts the liquor on Maryland soil, takes out the money on Maryland soil, and on his return to town delivers the goods to the purchaser.

During the adjournment of the four revenue officers, and while the town police of Harpers Ferry have been trying to spot liquor sales in camp, considerable of the liquor has been bought and sold in Harpers Ferry.

Dance Social Success.
The dance given to the officers of the brigade by the women of the Hill-top House last night was attended practically by every officer in camp. Mrs. Robert Young and Mrs. Edwin Young, of Washington, who arranged the dance, are responsible for the success of the evening. Fourteen musicians of the Second Infantry Band, led by James G. Moody, volunteered to furnish the music for the evening, and were given permission by the camp commander, Col. Charles H. O'Rand, First Infantry.

Capt. T. A. Clark and Maj. Boyd Taylor furnished the camp with an unexpected entertainment last night when Capt. Clark started to clean his puttees for the dance of the following evening. He used gasoline to do the cleaning and Maj. Taylor held a lighted lantern close to the gasoline to see if the job was being done well enough to suit him. In an instant the interior of Capt. Clark's tent was ablaze and a volunteer fire department recruited from brigade headquarters non-commissioned staff rushed to the rescue. The blazing puttee was kicked around the camp until the blaze subsided.

MOONSHINER GIVES HIMSELF TO POLICE

Georgia Fugitive from Justice Walks Into Police Station and Surrenders.

WANTED BY THE GOVERNMENT
A big, bold man, of muscular build, carrying himself clumsily, covered with a growth of beard, strode into police headquarters yesterday afternoon, and calling to Detective Bauer, gave himself up, briefly stating that he was wanted in White County, Ga., as a fugitive from justice.

Giving his name as Arnold A. Blylock, twenty-eight years old, Blylock told the detective that there was a warrant sworn out against him by United States Marshall Ben Landers, of the Revenue Service.

Blylock dramatically related how he eluded agents of the revenue service who raided his distillery, and made his way to this city by rail and foot.

"I give myself up," the mountaineer said when questioned, "because way down the hill in Georgia, there is an sick wife, and four children worried 'bout me. I admit that I run an distillery but I am not a lawbreaker. Ma father taught me that, and the government wrongs us mountaineers folks when they'll bring us in."

Blylock said that at the age of twelve year his father died after being chased from place to place by internal revenue agents. It was then that Blylock avowed he would defy the law and continue illicit distilling. "It was bred in me," the man said stolidly, "and I opine I'm not to blame."

Distillery Is Raided.
Two weeks ago secret agents of the Treasury Department raided a distillery that was operated about 20 yards from Blylock's homestead. Several men were caught in the raid, but Blylock succeeded in eluding capture.

Escaping over the rugged country of Long Mountain, on the outskirts of Gauleyville, Blylock landed in this city yesterday, and, weak from hunger and exposure, gave himself up.

"Ah, know I was a violator in the law by making whiskey, but down in jaw heart Ah opine I'm being wronged when they put me in the jail. Ah don't make much money from the sale of the whiskey, but it's enough for me to support mah family."

INSANE PATIENTS NOT PROTECTED

Government Hospital Ignored Through Hasty Action of Ob-jecting Congressman.

ITS FIRE ALARM SYSTEM CANNOT BE USED
Property and Inmates Left Without Safety Device—Private Ownership Not Allowed.

The Committee of the House on Public Buildings and Grounds has made a careful investigation of the fire alarm system recently installed in the Government Hospital for the Insane, finding that if put into use it would afford ample protection to the inmates and buildings against disaster from fire. This system, however, while ready for immediate use, cannot be put into commission unless Congress provides the means for its purchase or for its maintenance.

Certain legal questions have arisen between the Department of the Interior and the contractor who installed the system, and the question of whether the government or contractor is now the owner of the system, questions which have for the first time been raised very recently. The committee to which this matter was referred has made a unanimous report to Congress, recommending that the whole matter be referred to the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia for the purpose of determining the legal questions and of ascertaining the proper facts mentioned, in order to enable Congress to determine whether it would order the purchase of the system and direct that it be operated by and at the expense of the government, or appropriate such moneys as would be necessary to maintain it by the contractor as contemplated by the contract. The amount necessary for this would be about $3,000 per annum.

Upon the report of the subcommittee, that they had investigated the system and found it in good working order, a joint resolution was adopted referring the matter to the court, as above stated, and expressly providing that, pending the investigations by the court, the system should be maintained in good working order, in the hospital, and that inmates as well as the buildings of the Government Hospital for the Insane. This joint resolution (No. 334) was placed upon the unanimous consent calendar on Monday, but when it was reached one of the members objected to its consideration, and therefore no action could be taken thereon.

Here was an opportunity for Congress to afford the 3,000 unfortunate inmates confined in this hospital protection against disaster by fire. This resolution was open to amendment, if necessary, but none was offered.

It is inconceivable almost that Congress should adjourn without taking such action as will insure the operation and maintenance of this fire alarm system, already installed and in good working order, in the hospital, giving them every possible protection against the risk of being destroyed by fire, especially as an ample protection against such an appalling disaster has already been installed in the hospital, and can be maintained in operation for the insignificant sum of $3,000 per annum.

MOUNTING HUGE FISH.
J. S. Warmbath, the expert taxidermist of the Smithsonian Institution, who went to Miami, Fla., to mount a monster fish recently caught there by Charles Thompson, has commenced his work, according to advices received yesterday.

Mr. Warmbath will construct a frame of wood, iron and papier mache. The task will occupy several weeks, but it is expected to preserve the fish in its natural form and colors. The fish Mr. Warmbath is engaged in mounting is over forty feet long. From descriptions received, naturalists at the Smithsonian tend to the belief that it is a whale shark.

Rail Two Stations.
Baltimore, Md., Aug. 20.—Following the robbery of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad station at Hagerstown a few nights ago the stations at Annapolis Junction and at Jessup were visited last night by burglars, who turned things topsy-turvy, did a great deal of damage and reaped only a scant loot as reward for their hard and hazardous work. It is thought that a band of yegmen are making a round of the Baltimore and Ohio stations, and may hit along the lines from here to Washington station-masters are alarmed.

TRAFFIC AGREEMENT MADE.
American Express Company After Some of Capital Business.
The store at 123 F Street Northwest has been leased by the American Express Company. It was announced yesterday, for headquarters in the District, beginning September 1. Traffic arrangements have been completed by which the company will have an entrance into Washington from Baltimore and Annapolis and Eastern Shore connections over the Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis electric line.

The American, which has hitherto been unable to get into Washington because of affiliations of other express companies with the railroad entering the city, will now have traffic connections for the handling of express matter. By affiliation with the Western Maryland at Baltimore it will have an outlet over the New York Central line.

SCHOOL SYSTEM "BAD."
Clarendon Citizens Seek Better Facilities for Their Community.
Betterment of the school facilities of Clarendon and of Arlington District will be considered at a meeting of the Clarendon Citizens' Association and other residents of Arlington District in Clarendon at 8 o'clock Tuesday night.

Dissatisfaction with the school system was expressed at a meeting of the Association in Clarendon last night. Edward E. Wilson, president of the association, declared that the school system must be improved. For a long time, he said, there had been a murmur of dissatisfaction, but now the dissatisfaction must become distinctly audible. He declared that with the money available for the Clarendon schools, teachers of ability adequate to the needs of the community could not be properly paid. With proper financial management, he asserted, the required funds could be made available.

L. L. Northrup, Dr. S. S. Simpson, E. M. Russell, H. A. Porter, and J. J. Dillon also spoke.

W. H. Hough was appointed a committee to invite the Arlington District school board to the meeting.

The Citizens' Association last night considered plans for improved sanitation and water supply, but reached no definite conclusions.

"NOTIFY" SHERMAN TO-DAY.
